The Liberal Nationals' plan to get Victoria Back to Work

Senior Victorians have experienced a period of social dislocation, with some of the longest lockdowns imposed anywhere in the world.

Seniors in Victoria need:

- Confidence in Victoria's ongoing management of COVID-19
- A stronger and more accessible Victorian health system
- Opportunity to reconnect with local communities in a COVID-safe way
- Support to ease cost of living pressures

A one-off increase to the energy concession to $1000 per household until 1 January 2022.

Provide $10 million to reboot grants to senior citizens' clubs, including Probus, multicultural seniors' groups and U3As to defeat isolation.

'Road Trip for Victoria' vouchers offering up to a $200 discount on tours or accommodation when booking three nights or more.

Capital works upgrades for public aged care facilities to make sure all have single rooms and ensuites to help stop the spread of infectious disease.

Victorians have endured a lot this year.

The effects of the pandemic have touched all of us in different and profound ways. We now face more difficult social and economic recovery from the pandemic than anywhere else in Australia. Victoria needs a plan to keep our community safe from COVID-19, but at the same time to turn our focus to get Victorians back to work to repair the economic damage of lockdowns.

Recovery will be hard, but it is an opportunity to reshape our state, rebuild businesses and industries, and reclaim the Victorian way of life, which made Melbourne the most liveable city in the world.

The Victorian Liberal Nationals' Back to Work Plan will generate new jobs throughout the Victorian economy and give back security, and the feeling of security, to all. Our plan is for immediate action so that Victorians can get their jobs back, provide for their families, open their businesses, meet their rent and mortgage payments, educate their kids, keep healthy and protect elderly Victorians.
